Her parent's divorce and the end of her own 20 year marriage motivated her to explore that area of male /female differences. The principles she discovered powerfully changed the way she viewed all of the men in her life and for 15 years she has enjoyed the great, loving relationship of her dreams with her husband, Paul.

Teaching these amazing principles to men and women is her passion. In 2003 she created "Cant' Love Without It" and her daughter, Keri Newell, created "Can't Date Without It". As a mother-daughter team they are unique, dynamic speakers and powerful presenters. Their seminars are outrageously fun-filled and provide information that is cutting-edge, controversial, and life-changing.

Dr. Sherie has devoted her life to reducing and healing emotional pain and freeing men and women to love effectively. Her confidence, caring, and expertise are evident. She is believable. She is someone we trust
